Grass Lake superintendent discusses her role

Since the story "Grass Lake parents irate over superintendent's contract" appeared on page one of the June 21 Antioch News-Reporter, calls to Lakeland Newspapers office have included praise and complaints.

Comments ranging from "the story is biased and misleading" to "it's about time the truth was told" continued several weeks after the article was published.

Regardless of reader opinion, one fact remained: Superintendent Ruth Bill, whom the article focused on, was not available for comment at the time.

In all fairness, this follow-up story attempts to let Bill speak out about apparently what remains a hot topic: how much revenue should a small school district invest in its superintendent.

"Any superintendent is expected to not only be responsible but to be the visionary, the thinker. You've got to invest some dollars."

Ruth Bill says this from her Grass on education. It was her second trip to Lithuania on such business — a trip that requires an invitation by the Lithuanian government.

Bill was accompanied by an expert in remedial and special education, an Illinois State Board of Education representative and a superintendent from Iowa, all who were willing to pay their own way and take some risk.

Now back at work in Antioch, Bill continues to juggle the hats a superintendent must wear — perhaps more so in a district like Grass Lake, with only 250 or so kids in grades kindergarten through eighth.

"I have to wear the business manager's hat, the transportation hat and the disciplinarian's," she says. "But that's fine. So does my staff. They often have to be the coaches and counselors and planners."

Bill came to Grass Lake more than a year ago. It was her first superintendent position on top of 25 years in the education field, most of which were in the southwest Chicago suburbs.

"When I was being interviewed by the Grass Lake Board of Education, I really liked the people," she says. "We basically agreed on issues. I felt we could definitely work together and agree on what's best for the kids in this district."

What grabbed her, however, was the district's commitment to improving the education plan for the pupils that included (Continued on Page 8)

Dispatcher burned by fire losses

'I always wondered what happened during a fire, but I didn't mean to my own house' — Antioch dispatcher Laurie Sunde

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

As a fire and rescue dispatcher for the Village of Antioch, Laurie Sunde has always been curious about what goes on after she sends men and equipment.

Last week the Lake Villa resident and her family got a glimpse firsthand — though it was a little too close for her comfort.

"I always wondered what happened during a fire, but I didn't mean to my own house," she said.

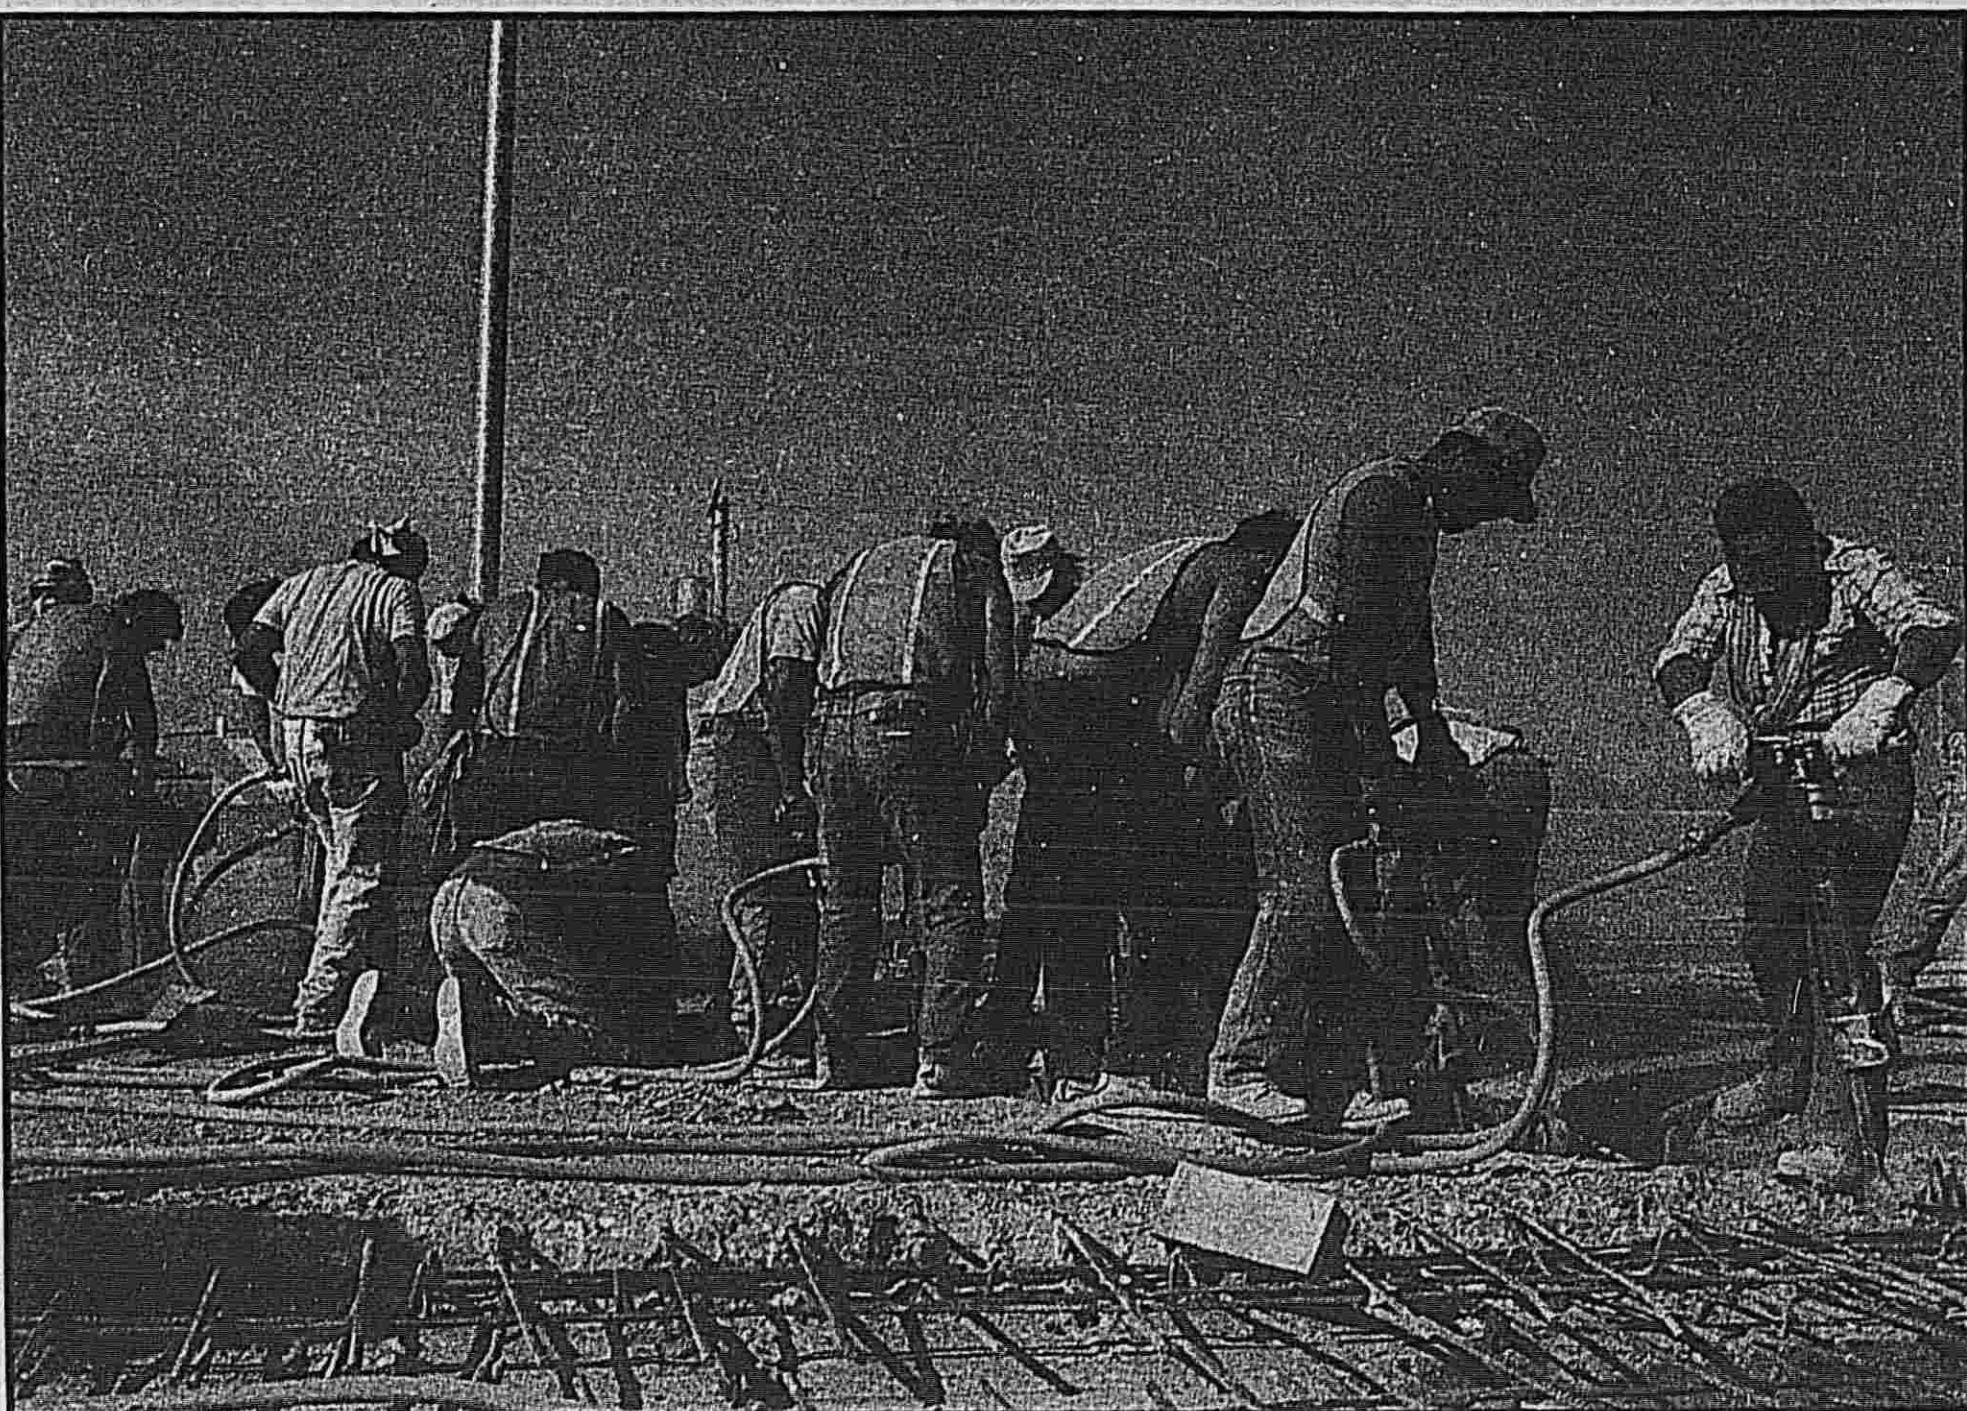

At 4:15 p.m. on July 24, Sunde woke up to the smell of smoke. She yelled for her boyfriend, Ron Hill, who was downstairs with 3-year-old Daniel Sunde Jr. and 9-month-old Lauren Hill.

Hill and the children were watching television when they, too, smelled the smoke. A quick search through the two-story home revealed the source — a fan in the children's bedroom was engulfed in flames.

Sunde called the Lake Villa Fire Department, employing what she already knew from the job. "First thing you learn as a dispatcher — stay calm," she said.

Within minutes, firefighters were on the scene. They came through the front door carrying water hoses wearing breathing apparatus. Soon they were extinguishing the fire and breaking windows to let smoke escape.

Westfield settles

ISLAND LAKE—Westfield Homes Inc., a Gurnee-based home builder, overcame a $1.8 million law suit last week by settling out of court with a homeowner in its West Ridge subdivision. Kevin and Dana Dombrowski, who had promised to name the Village of Island Lake in their suit, agreed to receive a new house on another lot in the subdivision. The Dombrowski home has been plagued by flooding from deep cracks along their basement wall they say are from faulty construction. Engineering reports from the developer as well as a private consultant also indicate the home's foundation was dug too deep and built over a percolating water spring.

ROUND LAKE—A man charged with abducting his 4-year-old daughter, a Round Lake Beach resident, was located in Kalamath Falls, Oregon early this week. Curt Flora is being held in Oregon on an outstanding warrant for child abduction after he fled the Round Lake area with his daughter Cei Cei Flora. Assistant States Attorney Louise Hayes said Flora will be charged with child abduction, a felony offense when he is returned to the county by authorities. Cei Cei's mother Patty Pscherer flew to Oregon to pick up the girl where she was staying in a foster home.

Gurnee builder tells Senate: clarify wetlands rules

A Gurnee builder has testified before the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, urging clarification and reform of governmental wetlands policy in Washington, D.C.

"On wetlands delineation, all parameters should be present to determine if there is a wetland," Gatewood, president of Gurnee-based Westfield Homes, said.

Gatewood called for the delineation policy to be "streamlined. We have multiple agencies involved and the Army Corps of Engineers is understaffed," he said.

He was one of several members of the National Assn. of Home Builders who urged adoption of more effective policies and programs to promote wetland restoration and creation.

This particularly applies to low-quality wetlands. "It can be extremely costly in dealing with low quality wetlands. You end up saving them or avoiding them and create problems for homeowners groups or municipalities," Gatewood said.

The National Assn. of Home Builders recognizes the importance and value of wetlands, and the need to establish a federal regulatory system to protect them. But let us have a system that values and functions of different wetlands and protects them accordingly," Gatewood said.

Gatewood, with the help of environmental scientists and engineers has restored an existing wetland and created additional wetlands area at the South Ridge subdivision. That subdivision, bordered by Hunt Club Rd. and Washington St., is nearing completion.

Gatewood started Westfield Homes 11 years ago and the firm is the 10th largest builder in the Chicagoland area. The firm also builds homes in Florida.

The 1989 Lake County Home Builder of the Year award winner, Gatewood served as president of the Lake County Home Builders Assn. for several years and is active in association activities as life director. He is head of the production committee of the Lake County Affordable Housing Task Force and a representative to the Highway Impact Fee Advisory Committee to the Lake County board. He is also a member of the Board of Governors and this year's secretary of the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago. He also serves on the state legislative committee.

In addition to South Ridge in Gurnee, Westfield is also building Westridge in Island Lake, which includes a 12-acre nature preserve.

Police, security prepare for Gurnee Mills start

Gurnee's Police Dept., which has more than 15 years of experience in dealing with large crowds at Great America, is making final plans to contend with security issues at Gurnee Mills.

Three officers - Terry Mohrs, T.J. Mieure and Dennis Adkins have been assigned to the mall, billed as the world's largest.

"They are very well suited for it," Gurnee Police Chief John Ward said.

The police department will have a 1,700 square foot substation at the mall which will be able to be accessed by shoppers. A separate entrance will allow police to take suspects out of the mall and arrest them without a public incident.

"We don't anticipate a lot of problems," Mohrs said.

Ward said research at other super-regional malls owned by Western, violent crime has not been a pattern.

Mohrs, a Libertyville High School graduate, has been on the force eight years and the police department has doubled since.

"I got here at the right time," Mohrs said. "This is a really good community to work for. For the most part, people who come here stay here."

Ward complimented the security operations Western will have. WDC will have nine personnel assigned to security a shift, according to Ward.

Anchors at the store, which will have 157 tenants, are: Bed, Bath & Beyond; Fielene's Basement (October opening); Marshalls; Phar-Mor; Sears Outlet; Spiegel Outlet Store and Waccamaw.

An 11-day grand opening celebration is planned for the super-regional mall. The Gurnee Mills Community Band will kickoff the day with an 8:30 - 10 a.m. performance. American flags will be given away to the first 3,000 visitors to Gurnee Mills, which will be eligible for a $3,000 shopping spree. The winner of the drawing will be announced at 10 a.m.

Balloon twisters, jugglers, mimes, clowns, magician and unicyclist will perform from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Lipizzan drawn carriage arrives from Temple Farms at 9 a.m. with a ribbon cutting ceremony at 9:15 a.m.

John Paxson of the World Champion Chicago Bulls will make an appearance from noon to 2 p.m.

Also in the afternoon, Paul Kozek entertains at 4 p.m. and Ramsey Lewis Trio 'Reunion' featuring Eldee Young & "Redd" Holt perform at 7 p.m.

Aug. 9 is Kids' Day with face painting at 10 a.m., Ronald McDonald's Magic Show at 11 a.m. to noon. Lake County Sheriff's Dept. will present a show on dog training and obedience at noon to 12:30 p.m. Renaissance presents characters and storytelling from noon to 6 p.m. Lambs Farms presents Cat Tricks by Cat House originals 2 to 2:30 p.m. McDonald's Moonwalk will be from 2 to 6 p.m.

Saturday, Aug. 10 is highlighted by comedy and zanies. Cartoons will be shown from 10 to 10:45 a.m.; and a zanies comedy show will be held from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Board, Safety Committee split on dispatcher's firing

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

The much-publicized investigation of a police officer and dispatcher at the Antioch Police Department ended last week with less-than-unanimous support by the Village Board.

In a 4-2 vote, the Board dismissed dispatcher Susan Nitschneider, who was videotaped last December hugging and kissing former Officer Michael Culat.

Culat was fired in April by the Antioch Police and Fire Commission.

Trustees Wayne Foresta and Larry Hanson voted against Nitschneider's dismissal. Both trustees are part of the Village Public Safety Committee, which earlier voted 2-1 against dismissing the dispatcher.

Hanson, who chairs the committee, said the 2-1 vote favored a written reprimand and 30-day suspension for Nitschneider.

"As far as disciplinary action goes, we didn't go to the extreme that we felt she should have been fired," he said.

"You should have looked at her record. She wasn't a bad employee. She should of just been disciplined."

'You should have looked at her record. She wasn't a bad employee. She should of just been disciplined'
— Trustee Larry Hanson

Police Chief Charles Miller, however, commended the Village Board's final decision.

"The actions were not that of a good employee," Miller said. "I'm glad the Board felt the same."

'This incident can't do anything but help this department become more professional' — Police Chief Charles Miller

He said the case has sent out a message to the Antioch Police Department that second-rate employees will not be tolerated.

"This incident can't do anything but help this department become more professional," the police chief said.

Hanson said the case was not strong enough to warrant the money spent on it, including the three months of administrative leave paid to Nitschneider while the case waited to be heard.

The dispatcher's case was postponed while she was on maternity leave. Her employment ended July 24 when the Board dismissed her.

"It could have been handled a lot sooner," Hanson said. "The fact that we had to pay her for several months — if it had been more serious, we could have terminated her (employment) earlier and saved the taxpayer money."

The case against Nitschneider and Culat started in December, when Miller planted a videocamera with the assistance of the Illinois State Police to investigate mail tampering in the department.

The camera picked up Nitschneider and Culat hugging and kissing. Culat was married and Nitschneider was seven months pregnant at the time.

Culat, who contends that his employment's termination was a result of political infighting at Village Hall, is appealing his case to a Lake County court.

Parks and rec director named

Carol Todd, 22, originally from Flora but now living in Antioch is the Village's new parks and recreation department director.

"I'm really looking forward to getting to know the people of Antioch and getting to know the area a little better," Todd said during her first day on Monday.

A leisure studies graduate from the University of Illinois, Todd served her internship with the Champaign Park District.

As Antioch's parks and rec director, Todd will be responsible for the planning organization of recreation programs and supervise employees of the Village's pool, afterschool and special interest programs.

She said she's looking to implement a teen program here and would like to start some one-day special events, such as a kite-making workshop or Daddy-Daughter Date Night like she worked on in Champaign.

Com-Ed annexation hearing Aug. 5

A meeting and public hearing between Commonwealth Edison and the Village of Antioch is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Aug. 5. Com-Ed is seeking to annex land in Antioch to be used for a future power substation.

Lake Villa Attorney John M. Miller

told his Village Board last week he received a copy of the franchise agreement from Com-Ed and was reviewing it to see what could be done to stop the utility company from stringing high-voltage power lines through the community. Lake Villa is scheduled to meet with Com-Ed on Aug. 7.

Stopping the flames

Firefighters prepare to check the attic of Laurie Sunde's home in Lake Villa, which caught fire last week while the Antioch dispatcher was asleep. — photo by Ray Plum

Dispatcher

When the first floor was done, the second floor and attic were combed to make sure no smoldering timber was left. In the end, the home at 207 Lake Avenue was severely damaged, but not destroyed.

Walking through the charred rooms of her nearly 100-year-old home later that evening, Sunde lamented her losses.

"My kids have no toys," she said. "It's kind of a stupid thing to worry about. It's pretty sad."

Sunde and Hill moved into the home four months earlier. She said they were finally getting settled. Her parents, who own the home, had spent about $180,000 to remodel the home.

"Everything was brand new. God, it just kills me," Sunde said. "I know it will all be replaced (through renter's insurance) but — all my pictures."

She was amazed by the heat damage throughout the house. Melted fans and singed stuffed animals testified to temperatures so hot, the glue in the wallpaper showed through.

"Half these windows were painted shut and we couldn't even open them," Sunde said, standing in a pile of broken glass. "They're open now."

The Lake Villa Fire Department still has not determined the cause of the blaze. Investigators know it started near the fan in the playroom but are not certain it originated with the fan.

"Everything in the room was so consumed," Fire Chief Frank Slazes said. "When everything is consumed like that, it's hard to tell."

Sunde, Hill and the children are living with her parents.

"My son thinks it's neat to live with Grandma," she said. "He's decided he's going to be a fireman and 'break windows,' as he's put it."

After a week had passed, Sunde knew of the hardship and the generosity of others that follows people who survive a tragedy.

Her insurance company claims it did not receive her last payment, although she has used the same firm since she started paying for renter's insurance as a teen.

Other than that, "everybody's been really nice," she said.

The Antioch Fire Department gave her a $300 check from its Garland Fund; Red Cross has donated supplies; the Antioch Police Association has pledged money; co-workers have been giving clothes and other items; and some friends came by with two big bags of toys for the kids.

"I guess I never realized how many people do so many different things," she said. "It amazes me. So many people help you out — people you really don't even know."

The experience also has made her more compassionate towards those calling her at work for emergency assistance. "I take it more personally. It hits harder," she said.

As to her family's future, Sunde said, it remains to be seen.

"Everybody's been doing a lot, but until we found out about the insurance, everything's really in limbo," Sunde said.

What isn't in limbo is a new perception about things so common around her.

"You learn the value of life a lot more," she said. "It's the little stuff that means so much."

Curse of the Antioch dispatchers?

Laurie Sunde's ordeal is but one occurrence plaguing dispatchers in Antioch.

Could it be a hex hanging over their heads? Consider this:

• Last December, while seeking the answer to what was happening to mail in the Antioch Police Department, Police Chief Charles Miller and the Illinois State Police set up a hidden videocamera. What they captured were police Officer Michael Culat and dispatcher Susan Nitschneider embracing and kissing.

Last week, after months of publicity, a feud between the mayor and police chief and the firing of Culat, Nitschneider's employment was terminated by the Antioch Village Board.

• On June 23, a car speeding along Lake Avenue near Channel Lake jumped a curb, crashed into a home and exploded into flames.

The home belonged to Patrick Naughton, father-in-law of Antioch dispatcher Jennifer Naughton, at whose home he was visiting earlier that day.

• And last week Antioch dispatcher Laurie Sunde got a taste of what happens on the other side of her job when her home caught fire at 4:15 p.m. on July 24. Sunde, who was resting in preparation for her shift that day, awoke to the smell of smoke and called the Lake Villa Fire Department.

ACHS settles new salaries

Ratification of the new contract was made by the teachers association on July 24 and the board two days later.

The agreement calls for a three-year contract on language and a one-year monetary increase of 6 percent on money items. Beginning salary for the 1991-92 school year is $22,000.

Police crack burglary ring

Five people, including two juveniles, were arrested and charged last week in nine cases of burglary from autos parked in Antioch.

Police estimate that $600 to $700 in stolen car stereos, tools, radar detectors and cash were recovered in the arrests early July 25.

Arrested were: Gabriel Holter and Bryan Konczak, both 18 and from Burlington, Wis.; Brian Schneider, 21, from Westchester; and two 16-year-old boys, one from Chicago and the other from Twin Lakes, Wis.

The adults were taken to Lake County jail on a $30,000 bond, Antioch police said. The juveniles were turned over to Lake County authorities.

The Twin Lakes boy was released to his parents. The Chicago youth was detained at Hulse Detention Center in Waukegan, police said.

The ring was arrested on what Antioch police believe was the second night of car burglaries in the Village.

At 1:42 a.m. July 25, a resident called police about a group of suspects walking around an apartment complex parking lot in the 700 block of Main Street and peering into cars.

When police arrived, the suspects fled on foot. The resident was able to tell police in which direction the suspects fled. The five were apprehended trying to leave the area in a car.

Lang's sponsors tournament

Lang's Fishing Team of Lang's Oar House on Lake Marie near Antioch announced a benefit fishing tournament for Camp Fish. Normally, the tournaments feature funds being returned to the contestants as prize winnings. However, the Aug. 4 tournament will use 20 percent of the fees to send local youngsters to the north central Minnesota fishing program.

Camp Fish, a non-profit organization, conducts weekly summer programs that expose youngsters to finishing, respect of the environment and an appreciation of the outdoors. For 13 years Camp Fish conducted these programs as a part of Al and Ron Lindner's In-Fisherman organization and then became a non-profit, separate organization in the fall of 1990.

In addition to the funds generated by this benefit tournament, Lang's Fishing Team has also raised funds for Camp Fish via raffles and two percent of the fees of each of all other tournaments conducted at Lang's Oar House.

Rewarding Endeavor

Okay, people, prepare yourselves! You know how wordy I get when I feel good about something and boy am I feeling good as I sit and write this week's column. You will be glad to hear that the community effort garage sale, for the benefit of the Candy Rognstad family, was a huge success, not only financially but also emotionally/spiritually. It was heartwarming to see so many fine people (of all ages and locations) pull together in support of this young family.

I will not mention any names as I would probably end up omitting some gracious person or persons. I will address my thank yous in generalities. First of all thank you to everyone who helped in some way, no matter how much or how little. Thank you to A-Z Rental for the use of clothing racks, Grass Lake School for the use of the gym, tables, and other facilities. To local newspapers for advertisements, the Grass Lake School PTO for helping with their sponsorship.

Thanks to all of the people who made flyers and to the people who helped distribute them (especially the giving individual who circulated about 2,000 or so). Thanks to everyone who donated an item or two, or three. Thanks to the dozens of people who helped set up, organize, and price everything.

Thanks to the children for all their help, good behavior, and expert maintenance of the lemonade, potato chip stand. Thanks to everyone who made a donation by purchasing an item or items of their choice and also the people who made donations above and beyond the price of their purchases.

Thanks to the people who helped make the raffle table a huge success. Finally, thanks to the people who helped man the clean up crew.

Yes, once again, the giving efforts of so many proved that it is "better to give than to receive." Isn't it wonderful to see the God given goodness in people surface just at the right time? I will end this segment of this week's column with further good wishes to Candy Rognstad. Your struggle is in the minds and hearts of many. Keep on fighting and show that illness who's boss. You are loved by many!

Theatre Time

The PM&L summer musical production, "Into the Woods," had a few more performances scheduled, Aug. 9 and 10 at 8 p.m. and Aug. 11 at 2:30 p.m.

It is essential that all theatre goers make reservations by calling (708)395-3055, as seating is limited.

"Into the Woods," directed by Ken Smouse, is a bewitching musical fairytale that has the potential to entertain both the young and the old. However, it will probably be best understood by the more mature members of the audience.

Promotion

Congratulations are in order for officer Andy Jones of the Lindenhurst police department. Andy was promoted to sergeant and sworn in to this new position on Monday, July 22. Andy's wife, Sharon, and son, Drew, are very proud of him.

Congratulations, Andy, I am sure Lindenhurst residents are in good hands with dedicated officers such as yourself on duty.

Winning Smile

The Lake County Fair "Little Birdie" informed me that our own chosen Miss Antioch, Shelly Brausam, received the "Best Smile" award at the Lake County Fair Beauty Pageant, on July 24.

All I can say is those judges must have really known their business and I agree with them totally. As I sat at the Miss Antioch contest, watching the four pretty ladies vying for the title, I too noticed Shelley's exceptionally beautiful smile.

Once again, Shelley, keep on smiling and thanks for representing our "Hometown" so well with your participation in the fair and bringing back such a special award.

Time Files

I can't believe it is already time to wish Happy August Birthdays to many of our friends and neighbors in and about the Antioch area. Seems I just did this for June! How did August sneak up so quickly?

Why oh why must summer fly by? While a lot of people may prefer kids being in school, I enjoy the unscheduled fun activities of the summer with the little ones around and about.

Those lazy summer days seem to pass faster each year. Oh well, it is certainly not within my power to stop the clock. I will now extend Happy August Birthdays to the following people and secretly hope that September takes forever to roll around: Donna Schmehl, Barbara Filips, Chris Marquart, Matt Vogel, Jeff Johansen, Ryan Pinkowski, Steven Franzen, Aaron Marsala, Matt Fleming, Mike Goins, Liz Naughton, Judy Fechtner, Jamie Seputis, Marlene Olsen, Jr., Nicky Rossi, Tami Edelman, Travis Pinkowski, Kristen Franzen.

Cyndi Jones, Billy McCoy, Chris Dogan, Shahnaz Hansen, Tony Santemmo, Raymond Liss, Christine Foerster, Danny Marsich, Ray Brausam, Bobby Klean, Michael Walsh, Nina Hurmis, and Amanda Jackson.

Also happy Aug. 5 anniversary to Lorrie and Mike Christopolus, Aug. 10 anniversary to Bob and Darlene Olenick, happy Aug. 21 anniversary to June and Ken Hansen.

Curt and Sally Denny of Antioch are very excited over the birth of their first grandchild. Nicholas Dean Lubkeman was born July 7 at Victory Memorial Hospital. He tipped the scales at 8 pounds 11 ounces. Mom and dad, Dawn and Lonnie Lubkeman are naturally very proud to announce their parenthood and the grandparenthood of Curt and Sally. Congratulations everyone!

'Wood really challenges. In wood I can make or do anything — or anybody — I want'
— Rade Bundalo

"Michael Jordan has a body that's made to be sculpted," Bundalo says. "He is not overdefined or overmuscular. He has a nice body. I like the lines in Jordan."

As much as I understand sports, I believe Michael Jordan is exceptional. Maybe in another 100 years we won't have a talent like him."

In the meantime, Bundalo continues to work on orders, mostly Serbian icons. He has no favorite subject to carve — "anything in wood" — but he favors walnut, cherry and mahogany to work with.

"They have a beauty of their own and a warmth that only wood expresses," he says.

Anyone who would like carving done or who knows of a shop location or an 11-foot walnut log for Bundalo may call Alex Reljic at 356-3379.

Liquor-servers class required

The Village Board has adopted a resolution requiring owners and managers of businesses serving alcohol to attend a class taught by the Police Department.

The classes teach the effects of intoxication and how to deal with an intoxicated customer.

Merchants will have six months to sign up for the Training for Intervention Procedures by Service of Alcohol (TIPS) program, according to the Village Board.

Antioch will be contacting all liquor-serving businesses by mail to explain the ordinance, said Trustee Larry Hanson, who chairs the Village's public safety committee.

"We'll be contacting everyone to let them know when we'll be setting up classes," Hanson said.

He said classes for bars and restaurants that serve alcohol run six hours. Classes for merchants selling packaged goods and sponsors of special events that serve liquor are two hours.

The class will be taught by Antioch Police Officer Ronald Kay, who is certified to teach TIPS by the federal government.

Wood carver looking to settle in Lindenhurst

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

Rade Bundalo has been carving wood for 35 years, 11 of which have been here in the United States.

Now he's in Lindenhurst, looking for a place to open a shop and work to do.

"Wood really challenges," he says of his craft. "Other materials are soft and easy to work with. A painter gets a brush and makes a few strokes — here it is."

"But wood really challenges. In wood I can make or do anything — or anybody — I want."

Bundalo lives at the Serbian Brothers Help Inc. village. In the one month he has been there he carved a six-foot eagle with wings spread apart and started a second.

The eagles are made from the logs Bundalo found around the Serbian village site. The finished piece is intricately detailed, and stain and bleach on the wood give a two-color effect.

Bundalo does not use glue or a lathe to mold and stick pieces together. He starts from a single log and chisels down.

"Somehow it developed within myself," he says of his interest in wood carving. "I've seen others work with wood and I decided to try."

Bundalo attended his first woodworking school in Yugoslavia. He was one of three graduates out of a class of 60. From there, he has studied and worked in Holland, expanded computer literacy.

Bill was hired under the usual two-year contract with an option to draft a new three-year contract after 12 months. In May, the Grass Lake Board voted to give her a new, three-year contract.

But that decision was not unanimous — two board members voted against it. They and several parents contended that Bill was not on staff long enough to merit such a decision.

Board President Don Grob defended the action. "We have a quality person at a reasonable price," he said.

"What price is reasonable?" critics asked. Some charged that Bill's $54,600 salary was too much for a tiny district like Grass Lake. They wondered, What should be the priority for the district's limited resources?

"You have to look at what the needs are of the kids," the superintendent says. "We have to maximize our staff and yet, try to offer the children the most we can."

"The biggest check always goes to salaries. We are a labor-intensive organization. But here we're blessed with a staff that is not concerned in the bottom line with dollars."

This year, Grass Lake is offering gifted education and reading recovery programs. The school already sports full-time art, music and physical education teachers.

But could more teachers be hired if the superintendent was paid less, as some parents have suggested.

"I don't think that's something you can answer or defend," Bill says.

What she does say is that regardless of how many teachers she has, everything ultimately trickles to her.

"We can't afford to hire business managers or curriculum directors. That all comes down to me," Bill says. "I must be knowledgeable in the financial areas, the business areas."

"Last week I was on the roof talking with the roofers about building repairs. That falls into my area. Pretty much everything falls into my area."

Emmons board goals

At its July 15 regular meeting, the Emmons School Board adopted four statements as goals for the 1991-1992 school year:

- Work toward the development of a plan for the Emmons Board to remedy the problems of present and future overcrowded classroom and building conditions.

- Work toward the development of a community climate to promote the development of programs and strategies needed for addressing the challenges in the 1990s, especially in light of the apparent massive growth the district will experience in the near future.

- Maintain a spirit of fiscal responsibility that will ensure that district residents' school tax dollars are spent in the most prudent and accountable manner.

- Commitment of the board to the Emmons Mission Statement.

Sober side of center

Gurnee Mills will burst on the scene Thursday, Aug. 8, an assemblage of everything said to be the newest and hottest things in American retailing—manufacturers outlets, retail outlets and super-savings stores. All in all, the shoppers bonanza will offer more than 200 specialty stores and over 10 major tenants all in a setting designed to reflect the architecture of America's heartland. That's why each of the nine entrances will be adorned by a silo.

Developers intentionally have steered clear of the upscale tone incorporated in past regional shopping centers in northern Illinois to drive home the point that Gurnee Mills is catering to value-conscious consumers. So while the discounters and mass merchandising stores designed for blue collar shoppers might have some competitive fears, the pricey specialty boutiques still will have the high end of the market to themselves.

Letters to the Editor

Pregnant unemployable

Editor:

It would be an optimistic statement to say discrimination is no longer around, especially when it comes to getting a job while being pregnant.

After a month or so of continually being rejected, I decided to enroll in summer school to occupy some of my time. It was then that I realized I was not alone. There are many other women who were or had been in the same or similar situation.

Margaret Smith, age 24, of Waukegan stated that while she was pregnant last year it was an unending battle to find a job. Then after having a little girl she had problems finding a job because now she was tending to a newborn. Her alternatives was to back to school. In the last three months I have had several interviews. They always seem to take a turn for the worse once I tell them I am pregnant. They often times develop an attitude and ask questions like, "How far along are you?" I feel this is a valid question, but then they will ask a question almost pushing for an answer. For example, "Do you honestly feel you will continue to work once the baby is born?" The alternative is to either go back to school or not work.

Disposing of oil filters

Editor:

Many towns in the Lake County area are either implementing recycling plans or working diligently to maintain or improve their existing plan. Although they have been successful recycling paper, glass, and plastic; one area that's been overlooked is oil products.

With the increase in population in Lake County, there has been an increase in automotive repair shops. Many of these shops do an outstanding job keeping their shops clean and recycling materials such as exhaust pipes and mufflers. However, there are many products that are not usually recycled like oil filters, air filters, fuel filters, or any parts that the repair shop does not pay a core (a fee charged by parts departments until they receive the old part for the purpose of rebuilding) charge on. Many times I see these types of parts just thrown into the garbage can. This results in space taken up in our landfills. An oil filter made of metal, and thick paper is not going to break down in a landfill, not to mention the oil seeping into the water table.

For now, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has regulations pertaining to only the oil filters. In order to receive a copy of these regulations write to:

Land Pollution Control, Environmental Protection Agency, Permit Section, 2200 Church Hill Rd., P.O. Box 19276,

Just what will be the impact of Gurnee Mills on Lake County, our economy and our lives? While the stores will be a convenience to many persons, center generated traffic problems likely will be a pain-in-the-neck to a sizeable number of motorists. Sales tax income projections will be tempered by diversion of shopping dollars. Estimated property tax of $4,125,815 is hefty, but not a make or break windfall for any of the benefitting taxing bodies. We haven't heard any figures on additional public employees that will have to be hired to support infrastructure needs of the mega-center. These folks will have to be paid a whole lot more than the majority of the 2,753 employees working at center businesses.

In short, there's a sober side to the opening of Gurnee Mills, the side that will come into focus after the initial euphoria wears off.

'Gestapo' health department

Editor:

Many people cannot understand how any member of our Lake County Board could defend the injustices committed by the Lake County Health Dept.

It is much easier to understand when one considers the pro-Health Dept. County Board members are lovers of injustice. The voters may have retired Mike Graham from government service, but his pro-condemnation mob (Suzy Schmidt, Carol Calebresa, Rich Anderson, Bobbi O'Reilly and Larry Leafblad) are fighting to do what it can to preserve the evils of the old ways.

Human rights mean so little to these people who believe so strongly in heavy-handed government. In the past, this mob used condemnation to, confiscate the property of senior citizens, farmers, and individuals who could not defend themselves. Now they defend the well-documented Nazi Gestapo tactics of the health department.

A "Health Department" is supposed to have the purpose of protecting the public health. Instead of fulfilling this noble mission, the Lake County Health Dept.'s policy has been to attempt to drive honest, law abiding citizens out of business.

When this has been brought to the attention of the pro-condemnation mob in the past, they would suddenly develop severe hearing loss. And this mob calls their platform "Open Space?" They should change their name to "Closed Ears," because it is obvious they do not want to listen to any human mistreated by Lake County bureaucrats.

Found: service cheerfully done at service spot

by BILL SCHROEDER

DAYS GONE BY—Terri Wood longs for the days when gasoline stations were service stations where motorists could get service. Wood was mildly flabbergasted when she asked Steve Nedza to check the air in her tires at Nedza's Amoco in Wauconda. "Thank goodness Steve checked. There was a nail in the tire," Wood related. Even though mechanics were busy with early morning business, they got Terri back on the road in a jiffy.

"I guess what impressed me the most was that I needed to be on time for work. They put aside what they were doing for a few minutes and were courteous the whole time. Thanks for keeping your growing business personal," the appreciative motorist related to the Nedzas.

Terri Wood's story touches on the secret for success in business today—providing personal service with a smile. It works.

TRUE TO FORM—Once a teacher always a teacher. Bill Thompson, retired Lake County Regional School superintendent, took me to task for an editorial page boo boo where "acceptances" slipped in when I meant "exceptions." Pretty dumb mistake. Bill, I'm taking no exception to your criticism:

ROSCOE REPORT—After writing about Roscoe, the terrier-type waif who has adopted our household as his new home, Dr. Lew Seidenberg found a sensitivity on my part for humane treatment for stray animals that he had not noticed before. We're going to get together to talk about humane animal care. The Grayslake veterinarian has been promoting Lake County's unique spay-neuter program for years.

I'm a pushover for dogs with personalities. Followers of this column know that K.C. turned me into a feline fan since she became part of our family 11 years ago.

Attempts to locate Roscoe's former owners have been unsuccessful because their dropping him by the roadside was no accident. Like a long-lost uncle, he has made himself thoroughly at home. Roscoe gets upset when not included in all our activities. He's a "people" dog.

to robberies at the J&L the businesses really don't feel too safe.

The only way I would feel safe would be knowing if neighbors were watching out of each others' properties. As for the businesses, I think we should have the Lake County Sheriff patrol past them a little more frequently.

If everyone would work together and protect one another there might be a crime cutback. After all isn't that the idea of being in a "Neighborhood Watch" Community, to feel protected?

Education is priority

Editor:

As the Antioch High School Board prepares for another bond referendum try, several nagging questions remain. Is a new building really needed? How much more in property taxes are area residents able to afford? Is anything being done to improve the quality of education? Is the student population growing as the board predicted? How many students can the present school hold?

If age makes a building expendable, than how does one explain New Trier which is ranked No. 1 in the nation and was built in 1912?

The millions being sought may only be used for construction. None of this money can be spent for education. Won't this mean that even more taxes will be necessary? Lake County is already the highest taxed county in the state. The risk is very great that should the referendum pass, voters will likely turn down all later requests for education funding, not only for the high school but all schools.

Education Sec. Lamar Alexander recently declared a "math emergency" in the nation's schools with half the eighth grade students performing just above a fifth grade level. Illinois ranks 22 nationally. The drop-out rate in Antioch is nearly 30 percent. These are very disturbing statistics. Then consider how the board arrived at the $170 tax per home figure, while some area park districts are commanding over $400, not to mention grade schools, such as Millburn at over double that.

The student population growth this year was only one-third what the board (Continued on next page)

FARM CANDIDATE?—Candidates are beginning to surface for next spring's County Board election. In the new Dist. 11 there could be a real horse race. This is the area around the Lake County Fairgrounds, including part of Grayslake, Wildwood, Arbor Vista and Bull Creek going into Libertyville Twp. There is no incumbent.

Already announced is Raymond LeCroix of Grayslake, who was fired last month as a member of the Lake County Board of Health by County Board Chairman Robert Depke. LeCroix is a village of Gurnee maintenance man. He is an "open space" conservative.

Receiving early support and financial commitments is Richard "Dick" Raftis, director of the Lake County Farm Bureau. He heads an organization of 18,000 gentleman farmers, mostly because they buy their insurance from the Country Companies, a Farm Bureau affiliate. Raftis is regarded as pro development.

"Thanks, but no thanks," said the 20-year staffer. "I don't have the time. If I weren't doing this there is nothing I would love better."

There you have it. The fastest non-candidacy on record.

NO STATUE—Immediate past president of the Lake County Farm Bureau is Peter Tekampe of Fremont Twp.

Tekampe is best remembered for a news-making tractorcade from Grayslake to Libertyville during the County Board campaign of two years ago. Dumped at that time were members Norman Geary of Grayslake and F.T. "Mike" Graham of Libertyville. Both were instrumental in condemning part of Tekampe's farm for a forest preserve.

Tekampe is still smarting about that. I asked if he might contribute to a fund for a statue of Geary and Graham on his property.

"Not on your life," he replied. "If anything, I'd be the first to tear it down."

DIVORCE & POLITICS—Like I said before, this is gradually becoming a marital column. Last week I received a letter on this subject.

"Divorce is regrettable and tragic and so is Norm Geary's (former County Board chairman)," the writer said. "If you're going to report one, be fair and report them all."

Like, Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton, Warren Twp. Supv. Robert Depke, Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson, Lake County Clerk Linda Hess, Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt, State Rep. Grace Mary Stern, State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis, judges Charles Scott and Bill Homer and County Board members Angelo Kyle, Audrey Nixon and Suzi Schmidt.

Judging from this list, politics can be hazardous to your marital health.

BELT TIGHTENING—Libertyville High School is getting ready to tighten its belt for the new school year. Between the state's new 5 percent budget cap and a local taxpayer organization crying for relief, things could be a little austere in coming months.

Supt. Donald Gossett predicts fewer electives, larger class sizes, no new uniforms and reduced equipment replacements.

Teachers will be asked to help by reopening the third year of their contract. It calls for an 8 percent pay increase.

Gossett, he just got a new three-year contract. It includes a 5 percent raise to a base of $100,000, plus expenses and fringes.

Gossett is another of those people who can't afford to live in Libertyville. His residence is one of those acre estates in the township northeast of the village.

TAXPAYERS BUY—Guess who's back on the taxpayer's gravy train?

None other than the members of the Northwest Sewer System Advisory Committee. County Board member Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa Twp. was chairman until almost two years ago when ousted by new County Board Chairman Robert Depke.

During her tenure she ended the practice of holding monthly meetings at the Black Bear restaurant in Ingleside. She figured the free drinks and hors d'oeuvres cost taxpayers $35,000 over several years. An average of 18 members attend each month. Schmidt moved the meetings to the sanitary district offices at the Fox Lake sewerage treatment plant.

County Board member Jim Fields of Antioch is now the chairman. He's moved the meetings again—to the Black Bear. The hors d'oeuvres are back, bigger and more plentiful than ever—at taxpayer expense. I don't know about the free booze.

SMOKING BUST—County Board members who attended the three-day National Association of County Officials convention in July are still wondering about the manners of Antioch's Jim Fields.

To be there you had to be invited, at taxpayer expense. Issuing the invitations was County Board Chairman Robert Depke.

All attendees were registered at a Salt Lake City, Utah, hotel where smoking was prohibited. There were signs everywhere—in the lobby, elevator, hallways and rooms.

So what did Fields do when he got to his room? Light up.

A sharp nose detected the aroma. Fields was given 15 minutes by management to vacate his room. He spent the next two days commuting by taxi from another hotel.

WHERE'S THE COFFEE?

Where's Bruce Hansen? Bruce who?, Ela Twp. Sup. Robert Grever asked.

Grever defeated Hansen for a Dist. 6 County Board seat more than one year ago. Both live in Lake Zurich.

"You and another other person are the only ones to ask since Dec. 3 (when Hansen officially left office)," Grever said.

The other was Dist. 1 County

Board member Donald Strenger.

Why do I care what happened to the Zion-Benton Twp. High School social studies teacher? Just to keep in touch.

As for Strenger, he's still looking for that cup of courthouse coffee Hansen promised him two years ago.

THONG APPEAL—With the controversy about women wearing thongs to the beach in Round Lake Beach, someone was bound to capitalize on the controversy.

That has happened in Antioch. Beanie's Taco Town on Rte. 83 near the state line has a sign out front:

"No dress code. Thongs encouraged."

A Salem girl wearing thong sandals stopped by.

"Sorry," the management said. "That's not what we had in mind."

BACK IN NEWS—One of Bruce Hansen's more controversial appointments as a Dist. 6 County Board member was to the Lake Zurich Fire Protection Dist.

Dennis Abbott of Echo Lake quickly became president. For two years there were so many in-house fires the public wanted to hang Abbott in effigy. Abbott wanted to build fire substations on every street corner where there wasn't a gas station or convenience store.

Abbott gracefully retired from office when his appointment expired last spring.

Now, Abbott is about to make more news. Sources say it involves his Echo Lake home.

Talking about homes and Abbott, one of this man's targets may soon see justice served.

John Bell of Bell's Apple Orchards on Rte. 12 wants to buy back 2 1/2 acres in North Barrington that Abbott & Co. took from him by condemnation. Neighbors and Bell said at the time it was a better site for an estate home than a fire station. Bell apparently still thinks so.

PLAYING SOCCER—It has taken awhile, but the way has been paved for removal of Dr. Steven Potsic as director of the Lake County Board of Health. A special closed meeting last year at which Potsic was given a multi-year contract has been ruled illegal. No public notice.

"That's the same thing the Libertyville Twp. board did," said former Supv. F.T. "Mike" Graham. "It held a June 24 meeting, went into a 15-minute executive session and came out to award $500,000 to the Greater Libertyville Soccer Association for a new complex. This item was never on the agenda nor was proper notice given for the executive meeting or the open one afterwards."

Graham is still frothing about the use of funds from the open-space program for soccer. Does Supv. Ralph Swank have children who play soccer? he asks.

JUST A MEMORY—Times are changing. Some of the teen-age drinking tragedies that gave the name Blood Alley to Rte. 83 just north of the state line are now just a memory. Thanks, in part, to raising the drinking age to 21 on both sides of the border.

Another change is pending.

Memories, one of the favorite Wisconsin watering troughs, may become just that.

Open sporadically so far this summer, the sign out front now reads: "Closed. For Sale."

This is one of the places where liquor purveyor Gil Meisgeier made a living. The former Fox Lake tavern owner opened and sold several teen-age hangouts along Rte. 83.

One of these is now The End Zone. In early July that establishment bounced a check for $558 on Salem Twp. for its 1991-92 liquor license. Agent Anthony Fasano was told to pay up or close up. He came up with the cash, some of it borrowed from friends.

"Business hasn't been good, lately," he said.

projected. Being so errant the first year, one must wonder about the accuracy of advanced projections? The population today is actually less than 10 years ago.

High quality teachers (and the money to pay them), modernized equipment, and motivated students are what education is really all about. These must be the priority. Renovate the existing building and enough money will remain and dedicate to these vital purposes.

Entrepreneur

Krueger seizes moment, jewelry business

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

Dennis Krueger was a diamond in the rough when he cut himself into the jewelry business almost two decades ago, and chances are he'll make a gem of a store owner.

Krueger — who's quick to joke that he's never even dreamed of Elm Street — will take over officially as the owner of Brandt Jewelers at 34 N. Genesee St. in downtown Waukegan Sept. 1.

Brandt is one of several jewelry stores in Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana owned by the Chicago-based company, Irvine Distributors.

Krueger joined up with Irvine some 17 years ago. He was the assistant manager at Brandt Jewelers for a year before being elevated to manager.

Some moves at the corporate level have enabled Krueger to become his own boss.

"The corporate officers found that it was time to cut back a little on their workload," Krueger explained. "They decided to select a few store managers who were in good standing and ask them if they were interested in purchasing their stores."

"I love the area and I love my customers, so I jumped at the chance to purchase this store."

That Krueger is buying the store may come as news to his regular customers. Many of his clients probably thought he was the top man all along.

"For 17 years, people have only seen me. A lot of people assumed I owned the place while I only the manager."

So, the status quo will prevail.

"Everything will remain the same — the same store, the same location and the same employees. Now, I'll be the owner-manager, as opposed to being the manager."

'I love the area and I love my customers, so I jumped at the chance to purchase this store.' — Dennis Krueger

"I've always done the buying, hiring and firing — all the aspects of the business. The home office did oversee things and do the inventory, but otherwise, I had a free rein."

"I will be slashing everybody's salary to the bare bone," Krueger jested loudly enough for all to hear."

Jokes aside, Brandt Jewelers will continue to provide top-notch services, Krueger said.

"We'll have the same quality service and merchandise, with our emphasis on service, which is very important in this day and age. Some places don't have the answers to a lot of their customers' questions, but we pride ourselves on having the answers."

Krueger has completed the Gemology Institute of America's diamond course and handles most of the gem sales.

Krueger has two full-time and two part-time employees on his staff, including Maria Rivera, Mike McBride, Linda Martinez and Helen Lyding. McBride takes care of most of the repair work.

"They're all long-time employees," Krueger said. "We'll continue to offer the caliber of service our customers have become used to."

"We do quite a bit of the repairs on premises. The store is an authorized Timex service representative."

The 23-year-old establishment is a "full-service jewelry store," Krueger said.

Diamonds, watches, clocks, class rings, costume jewelry and lighters make up just part of the offerings. The prevalent watch brands include Seiko, Bulova, Lasale and Timex.

Store hours are Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. until 5:15 p.m., Friday 9 a.m. until 6:15 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

For more information, call the store at (708) 244-4454.

Dennis Krueger will officially become the owner of Brandt Jewelers in Waukegan Sept. 1. Krueger was manager of the store for 17 years.

Six-flats still a good real estate investment

These days many people are shying away from investing in real estate. But now is the best time in years to purchase rented, income-producing condominiums, townhomes and small apartment buildings, such as six-flats, throughout the Chicagoland area.

There is still a niche for the "mom and pop" real estate investor—the family that wants to become involved in investment in a relatively small way with a long-term profit. The resale potential of six-flats is excellent, and owner/operator management and maintenance greatly reduced expenses.

Six-flat ownership is a good vehicle for husband and wife owner/operators to establish and build net worth. Current market conditions offer investors a great opportunity to enhance their investment portfolios.

Start-up costs for investing in income-producing real estate can usually be kept under $30,000, including a 10 percent down payment (upon qualifying) and closing costs.

Congress has made provisions so that the small investor can take tax advantage of owning real estate. It provided a $25,000 level of tax shelter for individuals who own and operate rental real estate. A person with an adjusted gross income of up to $100,000 will be able to use $25,000 of depreciation and operating losses to reduce taxable income from all sources.

Provided you adjusted growth income stays below $150,000, the purchase of several condos or six-flats could be made to take advantage of these write-offs which proportionately decline from $25,000 to $0 as the gross income approached $150. Any unused depreciation or off-set income can be deducted from the profits at the time of sale. So even if your adjusted gross income exceeds $150,000, losses can be carried forward until the time of sale, when these losses can be applied against the profit.

Counties provide property tax breaks for buildings of six-flats or less, and six-flats are assessed at the same rate as single family homes instead of the double rate charged to larger apartment buildings.

There are thousands of six-flats in the Chicago area which for decades have provided homes for families. Borrowed from the British, a "flat" is one apartment unit.

Strut for a worthy cause

Women and men with briefcases in hand will team up at noon on Sept. 20 to help raise funds for Lake County students. Locally, the American Business Women's Assn. four chapters have raised $117,635. This event is planned in conjunction of the 42nd anniversary of ABWA.

The teams will be made up of four participants from area businesses, hospitals, the media, organizations and the private and public sectors. President Sandy Bradbury reports that there are a few vacancies left and would welcome inquiries about the STRUT. If interested in sponsoring a team, call Sandy at (708)249-7278.

Organizations and businesses may form as many teams as they wish. Teams consist of four members and each participant's cost is $25. The winning team members will receive a first, second and third place medals. They will also be eligible to attend the Strut Celebration at Bonnie Brook the evening of Sept. 20.

The Strut should take approximately one hour to complete. Business attire with tennis shoes and a briefcase is the dress of the day. A short presentation is scheduled from municipal, county and state leadership in front of the Lake County Courthouse. After the Strut, refreshments will be served in the lobby of the County Building.

To enter or for more information, call (708)249-7278.

Housing authority reopens applications homestead plan

The Lake County Housing Authority announced that from August 1 through August 31, 1991, applications will be received for the Lake County Homestead Program. The Homestead Program assists first-time home buyers with moderate incomes acquire a home.

Participants secure the largest private first mortgage they can support and the Program fills the gap with a second mortgage that bears no monthly payments for seven years but must then be refinanced. Participants also share appreciated value with the Program. A required home buyer's school must be completed to be eligible.

Application forms may be obtained by telephoning the Authority on or after August 1 at (708)223-1170 or by visiting Authority offices at 33928 N. Rte. 45, Grayslake.

Rob Peters, Associate Director of Lake County Housing Authority, reported that of the 17 families accepted into the program in 1990, six have completed purchase of their first home through the program while three others purchased a home without Program help. Six other families are still seeking their first home," Peters said. Two have dropped out of the Program.

New concepts available in employee benefits

by ALAN NADOLNA

The days of the protective, parental employer are gone. Even the big, once-generous corporations are slashing employee benefits as takeovers, competitors and recession exact their toll.

Health coverage is especially hard to keep at high levels. Over the last two years, costs have risen from 16 to 18 percent for larger companies and 20 to 25 percent for smaller firms.

Moreover, even if businesses could afford to provide excellent fringe benefits, they'd be hard pressed to know what their employees wanted. Traditional benefit programs often don't fit the needs of single parents, two-earner couples, and single workers with no dependents.

The solution for more and more businesses of all sizes: A Flexible Spending Arrangement (FSA). This lets employees choose at least some of their own benefits, and may well help reduce employer costs.

The Basics

Under a flexible spending plan—a kind of cafeteria plan—employees give employees a choice of two or more benefits. One choice must be cash, which is taxable. At least one other choice must be a nontaxable fringe benefit.

For instance, an employee may be able to take $1,000 more in salary or have $1,000 put in a flexible spending account he can draw on to pay for health-care costs. In effect, the plan lets the employee pay for his health costs with pre-tax dollars. If he took the money as salary and used it to pay medical bills, he'd be paying with after-tax dollars.

Money put in a flexible spending account is not only free to income taxes, it's also free of Social Security taxes. As a result, the employer and the employee each save 7.65 percent of the amounts put into flexible spending accounts, assuming the employee earns under the Social Security wage base of $53,400.

Say employee Enid earns $40,000 and is in the 28 percent federal tax bracket, if she puts $1,000 into an FSA, she saves $280 in income taxes. The employer and she would each save $76 in Social Security taxes. She may save additional amounts in state income taxes.

A flexible spending plan may offer several kinds of tax-free fringes. These include:

- accident and health plans
- group-term life insurance up to $50,000

This way to wealth

- dependent-care assistance
- group legal services

In addition to cash, a plan may offer certain kinds of taxable benefits, such as vacation days and group life insurance about $50,000. But a flexible plan may not provide for deferred compensation, except for elective contributions to a 401(k) plan.

Employees may be suspicious of the new setup at first, seeing it as a way for an employer to cut back on benefits. Yet, employees stand to save lots in taxes by participating.

When one major company changed its decades-old benefits plan last year, it bombarded its 56,000 employees over 10 months with focus groups, brochures, videos, interactive software, and telephone hotlines. Such a blitz is hardly necessary for a small firm. But it might be a good idea to survey employees about their needs before making changes. And once the new plan is offered, employees are likely to be confused and uncertain at first. This can be overcome by distributing fact sheets, holding an information session, and having someone available to answer questions.

Once employees grasp the plan, they are likely to be more appreciative of any amounts you contribute to it. They'll also come to understand that when they want a new benefit, they'll have to trade another benefit for it or forfeit more of their cash compensation.

In her glory

Risley gets her dream as 'Batgirl'

On, to be a batgirl! Down in the Cubs dugout with "Awesome" Andre Dawson and best-bet hitter, first baseman Mark Grace, 11-year-old Allison Risley of Barrington was living a dream last Saturday.

There, with three major league baseballs in her hands, the Milk Duds Batgirl hoped to get close to her personal hero, Ryne Sandberg and have him sign her all-star ball. "He's good. I like him," Risley said.

Until a few weeks ago, Dawson and Grace ranked second and third, respectively, behind Sandberg in Risley's file. "I like them both the same," she said about Grace and Dawson, "they're good players, but since Andre Dawson threw the bats on the field, I kind of singled him for third. I don't like that he did that. I just thought it was poor

photos and story by

sportsmanship," she said. "Mark Grace was third before because he's just, like, good, but not as good as Andre Dawson as a batter."

Dawson has the best batting average on the team at .350; Grace the second best at .342. Sandberg falls in seventh with a .311 batting average.

For the honorary event, where Risley would see her name in lights on the Wrigley Field scoreboard, the batgirl from Barrington wore a long Cubs jersey, leggings, a Cubs baseball cap and brightly colored dangling earings made from wood. Admittedly, Risley was "a little bit nervous" about being so close to her heroes.

While waiting for Sandberg to come off the field during batting practice, Risley practiced her form with Grace's Rawlings Adirondac Big Stick.

Risley prefers Rawlings bats to Louisville Sluggers because, she said, they are lighter.

"That's what I use at home," she said.

Risley doesn't catch with a mitt yet. Next season, however, she will. Risley has plans.

"Next year I'll start in a league," she said, hoping to gain a position as pitcher, center fielder or playing second base with the Barrington Park District team. Admittedly, Risley said she has only the second best throwing arm among her friends. "My friend Jill Stoffels has the best arm," she said.

Risley didn't get Sandberg's autograph but did get near him. "I met him. I talked to him," she said, quietly excited. "I asked him how old he was when he started playing baseball. He was seven," she said.

For the game, Risley and her family were given box seats behind home plate. For lunch, Risley had her favorite ball park food - a hot dog - and also some ribs.

Risley, who hopes to someday become a model or pediatrician or both, will start sixth grade at Lake Zurich Junior High School in the fall. She said most of her friends are Cub fans.

Miller debut cut short

The ladies ganged up on Paul Miller.

Mother Nature and Dame Fortune combined to cut short Paul's major-league pitching debut with Pittsburgh at Atlanta Tuesday night.

Paul, a 26-year-old Richmond product, had been called up to take the ailing Bob Walk's spot in the Pirates' rotation.

When Paul faced his first batter in the bigs, butterflies misguided his first four pitches and he was faced with his initial base runner. A double play, a two-out double and strikeout later, Paul was back in the dugout with an inning under his belt.

In the top of the third, Paul laced a hard one-hopper right at the second baseman, and his first major-league at-bat was history.

A hard, steady rain put the game into a two-hour delay immediately after Paul's at-bat, but the real trouble came in the bottom of the sixth after play had resumed.

The Pirates had built a 3-0 lead when Paul walked the first batter in sixth. A fluke hit resulted from a bouncer that hit the bag and went over the third baseman. Another walk loaded the bases with no one out.

Paul got the hook and ended up with a no-decision. The Pirates' bullpen couldn't plug the dike as the Braves went on to a 10-3 win.

The final line on Paul: three runs (the bases were loaded when he left), four hits, two strikeouts and three walks in five innings' work.

There's no doubt the rain delay took its toll. After pumping adrenaline for so long, Paul had to be drained. In the sixth, he still had some stuff but had lost his control.

A Pittsburgh farmhand since 1987, Paul has the look of a winner after going 2-0 with an earned run average of 2.08 in three starts with the AAA Buffalo Bisons this season. Both of those victories came at the expense of the Iowa Oaks and reha-

"So far, every time he's moved up, he's done very, very well," said Paul's proud pop, Loren Miller.

Brothers, sisters running their own special race

Common Threads

I often hear parents complaining about their kids fighting while at home during summer vacation. It brings back memories of summers when I was little.

I was a chubby child. My only sister, who is three years older, was perfect. At age 12 her measurements read 36-24-36 while mine conjured up images of a beachball.

I think my sister was always a little embarrassed about my stout looks. I, on the other hand, worshiped the ground she walked on. I could never be around her enough, which I'm sure was exactly what she wanted—a fat younger sister bugging her when her friends came over. This, of course, always led to arguments and left me feeling a bit unwanted and unloved.

A sibling relationship is a complicated matter. It's not easy sharing your formative years. There's also the matter of jealousy—sharing the attention of beloved parents is always tough.

Despite the endless bickering, the hair pulling and petty fights, I believe there comes a moment when reality hits. It's shocking and you never forget it.

Being a fat child brought me much pain. As they say, "Kids can be very cruel." There was one girl in our neighborhood who never spared the comments. To Renee I was "fatmobile" or a variety of other negative nouns. I would always come home depressed after she and the other neighborhood kids had dealt with me. I'm sure my sister noticed it, but she never raced over to comfort me. It wouldn't have been cool I guess.

Renee was an excellent athlete. She was known in school for her incredible speed. She could beat every girl in my grade and even a few of the faster boys too.

One day, as Renee was bragging about her speed and in the same breath alluding to my shapeless figure I finally lost control. "You're not so fast," I said. "My sister could beat your any day!" Suddenly, there was an awful silence.

"On yeah," replied Renee. "Just have her meet me at the vacant lot after lunch today."

My walk home was endless. What had I done! Would my sister even agree to this? As I entered the house, she actually noticed my sunken head.

"What's wrong?" she asked. I told her. To my surprise, I saw a spark in her eyes.

"We'd better hurry up and eat," she said. It was probably one of the few times I passed up food in my life, but somehow my appetite had diminished. Instead, I watched her eat, knowing she'd need the energy for the upcoming race.

After lunch we got ready. My sister put on her favorite tennis shoes. She got on her bike and I walked quickly next to her on the sidewalk as we headed to the vacant lot. Renee was already there. I stationed myself at the opposite end of the lot. I was ready to signal the race to begin. By then, several of the neighborhood kids had gathered around to see the spectacle. "On your marks, get set, go!" I screamed.

They both started out equally. The vacant lot seemed the size of a football field. They kicked their heels behind them, raising dust as they sped. In an instant, I saw my sister glance over at Renee, and then away she fled. My sister had crossed the finished line in record speed and left my friend still running the race. We didn't say much to each other, or to Renee. Nothing really needed to be said. My sister just glanced at me with a grin and offered me a ride on her bicycle. I climbed up on the handlebars, and we were on our way.

I'll never forget that moment. I understood then that she loved me. I don't think I've ever felt as close to her as on the ride home that day.

My sister moved to Texas a year ago. She came to visit us the other day. I picked her up at the airport, got to meet her new baby, and we shared anxious hugs. A peculiar thing happened. As I walked to meet her I suddenly began to feel a lot rounder and about three feet tall. Inside, I guess I'm still her little chubby sister—there's just some things in life you can't escape.

To all those parents dealing with the daily strife that living with a house full of kids in the summer brings—I offer this small consolation. Just remember that between the fighting, there are some unforgettable memories being made. Somewhere, out there, sisters and brothers are running their own special kind of race.—by MEL BADELL

'Life Stinks' doesn't

We have been a fan of the Mel Brooks School of Comedy ever since the 1950s when his artistry first came to light as a writer for TV's "Your Show of Shows."

It's been quite a while since he has turned out anything worthy of the Brooks signature, but his new film, "Life Stinks," though not one of his best, is a funny, funny show with a message.

In "Life Stinks," Brooks plays a multi-billionaire who makes a bet he can survive for a month as a bag person in a Los Angeles ghetto sans clout, credit cards, cash, etc.

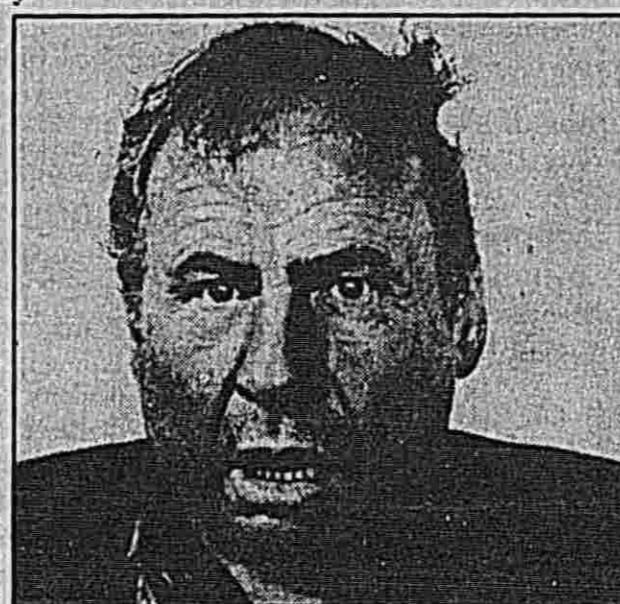

In the process he meets and falls in love with another street person played by Lesley Ann Warren, a former dancer with a tragic story.

Though the subject of the homeless is a poignant one, he turns this story into a myriad of funny sequences with Brook's genius for true comedy, revealing an ability to make poignancy funny without losing the human tragedy.

A fantasy scene where Brooks and Warren emulate Hollywood's era of optimism, via an Astair-Rodgers musical, steals the show.

There is some ethnic slapstick that is only so-so funny, but this is one of Brooks' trademarks and it wouldn't be a Brooks film without it.

We give "Life Stinks," four stars out of five hoping that his comedy master's works will not be so few and far between in the future.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Cochran steals show at Marriott

Critic's Choice

The Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre turns out its usual creditable production with its latest entry into area musicals, "Sweet Charity" which will continue its current run through the end of August.

Although the aura of the 1960's and the Neil Simon very early rewrite of an Italian script remain strong, even in the face of some updating in the direction by Joe Leonardo and company, "Charity" is still a good bit of entertainment with title star Shannon Cochran's version of the dime-a-dance damsel, Hope Valentine, one of her best interpretations to date.

The beautiful Cochran, who has talents to match, has been a Marriott favorite since she played the hapless barren gym teacher in "Baby."

She continues to show that she can do it all by turning in a top-notch performance in every department, whether tripping the light, or emoting vocally and dramatically.

"Charity," mainly a dance vehicle with some red-hot songs, tells the classic tale of "the lady of the evening with a heart of gold" looking for Main Street USA happiness in the grand style of the 1991 Marriott version full of exciting songs by Dorothy Fields and Cy Coleman.

Choreographer Mark Hoebee did his homework and keeps one of the late Bob Fosse's earliest and best efforts in terpsichorean tact.

As expected, "Hey Big Spender," "If They Could See Me Now," and "I'm a Big Brass Band" remain show stoppers.

Other kudos go to Larry Yando as Cochran's less-than-a-10 suitor, and Cochran's fast on their feet female co-horts Robin Kersey and Candace Tovar.

Although we are not always keen on seeing the musicals of the '50s, '60s, and '70s over and over again, Marriott's well-done production deserves a look see even if you have already seen one version or another.—by GLORIA DAVIS

*"CLC helped me achieve my dreams;
it will help you, too."*

Teacher Luis A. Vazquez discusses an assignment with a Highland Park High School student. Vazquez, a Waukegan resident and 1978 CLC graduate, inspires students to set high goals and achieve them.

"When I first walked on campus, I had just come to the United States from Mexico and did not speak or read English. A nice woman from the Admissions Office asked if she could help. She patiently worked with me and helped me register. I'll never forget her.

"CLC helped me overcome many of the barriers that might have prevented me from getting an education. The flexible class schedule let me work during the day and attend school in the evening. The tuition was affordable, and the classes were small so I got personal attention.

"Since leaving CLC, I've gone on to earn a master's degree, and I now teach at Highland Park High School. My experiences at CLC, both classes and student activities, helped me develop a potential I didn't know I had."

"CLC will help you develop your potential, too."

One-day cruises, are they for you?

by JIM WARNEKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Last year over two million people sailed on one-day cruises, yet many midwesterners may not even be aware there is such a thing. Who offers these introductions to cruising and what are they all about?

The largest of the one-day cruise lines is Sea-Escape with four ships sailing for a day or less from Miami, Ft. Lauderdale, Cape Canaveral (45 minutes from Orlando) and St. Petersburg, Fla. Discovery Cruises also sails from Ft. Lauderdale. Crown Cruise Lines operates a ship out of West Palm Beach. One other line, Europa cruises sails from both Pensacola, Fla., and Biloxi, Miss.

So is a one-day cruise anything like a real cruise? Yes and no.

The ships are full-size cruise vessels offering much of what you will find on the seven-day cruises. Live shows, discos, onboard shopping and sports activities are all there. The largest draw for the one-day cruisers is the full casinos found on virtually all of these ships.

Food service, unlike on a longer cruise, is buffet style with open-seating. You are allowed all you can eat. The quality is appetizing, but not the gourmet level of many of the ships in the seven-day market.

While not offering the exotic ports of call of a longer cruise, many do sail to the Bahamas for the day. The others are of the "Cruise to Nowhere" variety, with much to do at sea.

Also missing on the one-day cruises is the use of a cabin. You can pay a surcharge of about $50 for one, but the demand is high and the supply very limited. Sea Escape, for instance, has an average capacity of about 1,000 passengers on each of its ships, with less than 100 cabins per ship.

One-day cruises are a good way to try cruising during a Florida vacation. Just don't expect the "Love Boat".

New column offers many paths to good health

Maybe you've never worn garlic around your neck, but we're learning more and more about the benefits of that wonderful little "clove."

Perhaps you've really felt better after eating chicken soup, but couldn't explain why.

And how many of us have aloe plants, just so we can snip off a bit to apply to a burn?

Welcome to this new column. As an avid researcher and advocate of the many paths to good health, I will share with you my findings.

Should you cancel your health insurance and tear up your doctor's phone number? No! The medical field has come a long way in recent years, to pay credence to some long-accepted practices among various groups and cultures. We see more and more, the emphasis on diet, healthy attitudes, proper exercise, and the use of herbs, vitamins, and minerals. There is an increasing acceptance of massage therapy, foot reflexology, and acupuncture.

In future columns, we'll explore these preventives and reliefs. There are no promises of "cures." I advise seeing your physician for persistent and/or painful problems. I do intend, however, to present to you the results of documented studies, some ancient (and not so ancient) remedies for various ailments, and information on many health subjects.

Resources will include the Rodale/Prevention publications, books on herbs, vitamins, minerals, macrobiotics, nutrition, and exercise.

I will welcome your questions and comments. If you have a family "remedy" or "preventive," you might want to share it with the readers. If you've had a healing experience, let me know!

Now I'd like to give you a sampling of what's to come in our future articles.

Instead of a "topic" for today, I'd like to present four items. I think you'll find them interesting.

Yale Univ. researchers found that certain fragrances can lift spirits and lower blood pressure. The aroma of spiced apples has been found most effective at reducing blood pressure and heart rate. And on occasion, peach odor can calm a panic attack.

Steven Halpern, Ph.D., suggests trying wind chimes to reduce stress. The random melodic patterns can relax, but choose chimes that are specially tuned so that each note harmonizes with the others. Best are those made of copper or aluminum and are 12 to 18 inches in length.

From Earl Mindell's Vitamin Bible, "Because vitamins are natural substances found in foods, the supplements you take—be they capsules, tablets, powders, or liquids—also come from foods. Though many of the vitamins can be synthesized, most are extracted from basic natural sources." —by MARLENE BROWN and the state championship in 1970.

Miller

Loren had the facts at his fingertips Monday as he and Ginny (the proud mom) prepared to head to Atlanta for the game.

"They needed a starter," Loren said. "They might send him back or—if he does well—they might find a place for him."

Loren said at 6-foot-5, 215 pounds, the right-handed Paul's got some pretty high octane gas in the 90-91 mph range.

Paul picked Carthage College in Kenosha and drew the attention of major-league scouts during his freshman and sophomore years.

"He had a lot of scouts look at him after his sophomore year," Loren said. "He had an arm problem his junior year, and I think a lot of them just crossed him off the list."

"The Brewers were really after him when he was a sophomore. I guess they thought he was washed up, but it was no big deal—it was just a sore arm."

Paul was drafted by the Reds after his junior year, but declined to sign. He returned to post a 7-1 mark his senior year at Carthage, and was picked by the Pirates in the 53rd and final round of the June, 1987 free-agent draft.

Paul spent his first year of professional baseball with the Pirates' entry in the Gulf Coast (rookie) League. He finished 3-6 with an ERA of 3.20.

In 1988, Paul was elevated to the Class A Augusta, Ga. Pirates in the South Atlantic League. There, he was 6-5 (2.89).

Paul had a tough year in 1989, going 6-12 (4.17) for the Salem, Va. Buccaneers in the Class A Carolina League.

Last year, he played the first two-thirds of the season with Salem and went 8-6 (2.45) and was named to the league all-stars.

For the last part of the 1990 season, Paul was moved up to the AA Harrisburg, Pa. Senators in the Eastern League. In five starts, he ended up 2-1 (2.19).

The Harrisburg franchise was moved to Raleigh, N.C. for the 1991 season. With the AA Carolina Mudcats in the Southern League, Paul was 7-2 (2.42). He had just finished playing in the league all-star game when the Bisons called. —by GREG MILLER

Daddy,

when will you get me a new Mommy?

What can I do to help him understand?

When a child asks this or similar questions after the death of a parent they are really asking for reassurance that they will be cared for. Death of a parent can leave a child anxious about family routine, responsibility, and the life style that may develop. A child may need reassurance that others whom he counts on will not go away or die. They may also need to receive extra attention from the surviving parent. Spending time together while working or playing, talking about matters that are important to the child, and discussing events that will change the child's life are most important. Children benefit greatly from reassurance that everything that is happening around them includes their best interest. Let them know that they are important!

Internal parasites may cause illness in household pets

The healthiest looking dog or cat may be infested by internal parasites, commonly referred to as "worms." A parasite is a living organism that lives off another one, referred to as "host." In this case, the host is a pet.

Internal parasites, usually worms and protozoans (one cell organisms) usually occupy the gastrointestinal tract. Most of them are not life threatening, but severe infestations, particularly in young individuals, can be life threatening. One should recognize an infestation before symptoms of illness occur. This is done during routine examinations.

Treatment methods are usually simple and prevention is possible. The most common internal parasites are roundworms, hookworms, whipworms, tapeworms and coccidia.

Roundworms

Roundworms are common in puppies and kittens. The adult worms live in the intestines and may pass in feces. They resemble spaghetti. Their eggs are also passed in feces. Pups may be infected by exposure to these eggs passed by another individual. They may also be infected by their mothers before they are born or else through milk. Symptoms may vary from none to severe, may include diarrhea, vomiting, mucous in stools, poor haircoat, pot-belly and generally unhealthy appearance. During their development, the young larvae migrate through the dog's tissues, including its lungs. During this phase, cough and flu-like symptoms may be observed. People do not develop these worms in their bodies. Children may, however, undergo larval migration and develop flu-like symptoms if exposed to the infestation.

Hookworms

Hookworms live in the small intestines, where they attach themselves to the lining and are seldom seen outside the host. They can cause similar symptoms involving the gastrointestinal tract and can also cause tarry stools, often with blood. Dogs become weak, develop anemia and young puppies may die quickly.

Whipworms

Whipworms live in the large intestines, also attached to the wall. Symptoms include weight loss, diarrhea, often with mucous or blood, vomiting and generally poor health. Their eggs are very sturdy, can withstand exposure to harsh environment and to common antiseptics.

Tapeworms

Tapeworms also live in the intestines, their segments being passed in feces

They may be found sticking to hair around the pet's anus. These dried segments look like rice. The germ of a tapeworm may be present in the meat of a rabbit or another small animal.

Coccidia

Coccidia are protozoans, one cell size and therefore can not be seen without a microscope. They infest young individuals by being present in contaminated dirt. Symptoms include diarrhea, often with blood.

Round Lake Traveling Colt team members show all who is the best team in Illinois Colt league baseball after beating Ottawa 4-3 in eight innings. Round Lake advances to regional finals in Independence, MO. Team member Joe Meyer's jersey was held because Meyer could not be at the title game due to a previous commitment. Starters are (not in order): Clint Rodriguez, Scott Ellenwood, Scott

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When the Round Lake Traveling Colts make their travel arrangements for the summer of 1992, an overnight stay in downstate Ottawa will probably not be on the top of the list.

In fact, it probably would not even make the top 10.

Round Lake stayed overnight in Ottawa following an 8-7 win over Rockford and a 7-3 win over Highland in the first two rounds of the state Colt league tournament. Following the games, some team members ventured into town looking for fun. What they got was a tussle with a local street gang that left the Colts with various bruises and one team member required oral surgery on his mouth.

woes no match for Round Lake

Also, just before the Colts were to start one of two games Saturday, Manager Glen Jewell suffered what he calls a very minor heart attack. Doctors and some parents of team members preferred Jewell to have stayed overnight at a local hospital, but Jewell insisted on being at the park for the state title game against Ottawa. "I was mellow until the end. I tried to be cool," he said.

So it was an extra special moment, then, when Round Lake celebrated its 4-3 win over Ottawa in an eight inning struggle. The win advances Round Lake to the regional final round in Missouri this week.

Jewell is in his second year as head coach of the Colts, and he did not have a shabby start last year. "We matured a lot since then," Jewell said of last year's 33-7 team.

Two of this year's stars, 18-game winner Pat Lejman and Scott Ellenwood, were not on the team last year as they were playing for the Lake County Chiefs, a team no longer in operation this year.

Jewell's trademark, whether it be as a safety for coach Mike Dunn's football team or a catcher and a first baseman for the Panthers, was aggressiveness. And that showed Sunday, as Joe Vavrik's suicide squeeze from the seventh hitter in the order, who had struckout two previous times, keyed a two-run Round Lake seventh.

"That's baseball. Hit-and-run, stealing. I'm not afraid to use any angle," Jewell said.

The title proved rewarding for Round Lake's assistant coaches as well. Jim Meyer and John Rodriguez both have sons on the team and have been coaching in the Round Lake baseball program for 12 years. Rodriguez and his son Clint first found success as Clint was a member of the Grayslake Mohawks team five years ago.

"Our defense is great. The guys have been playing on the same team for a long time. It's destiny," Coach Rodriguez said.

Overtime

Round Lake opened the tourney with an 8-7 win over Rockford All-Stars. Vavrik was the winning pitcher in that contest with Lejman picking up a save. Justin Koski had two hits, Scott Mueller and Mike Niemczyk had three hits.

Next came Highland and Round Lake took that one 7-3 behind Dave Jones. Jones came to Round Lake from Lake Villa for the tourney.

Round Lake then had to play two games Saturday, as Ottawa was given a bye. The Colts edged Ottawa 4-3 behind Lejman, who picked up the win in relief of Vavrik. Koski and Mueller combined for eight strikeouts as Round Lake crushed Putnam Co. 8-1, setting up the title test against Ottawa.

Just before the start of the title game against Ottawa, a Round Lake parent remarked to a friend that he hoped the team won the first game so he could use his boat later that afternoon. And the Colts obliged, with a win that was a trademark of their season.

Talent depth pays off for Round Lake Colts

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Starting with an exceptional leadoff hitter and one-two punch, followed by some heavy hitters and a bottom of the order and bench which comes through all played roles in Round Lake's winning of the state Colt league championship.

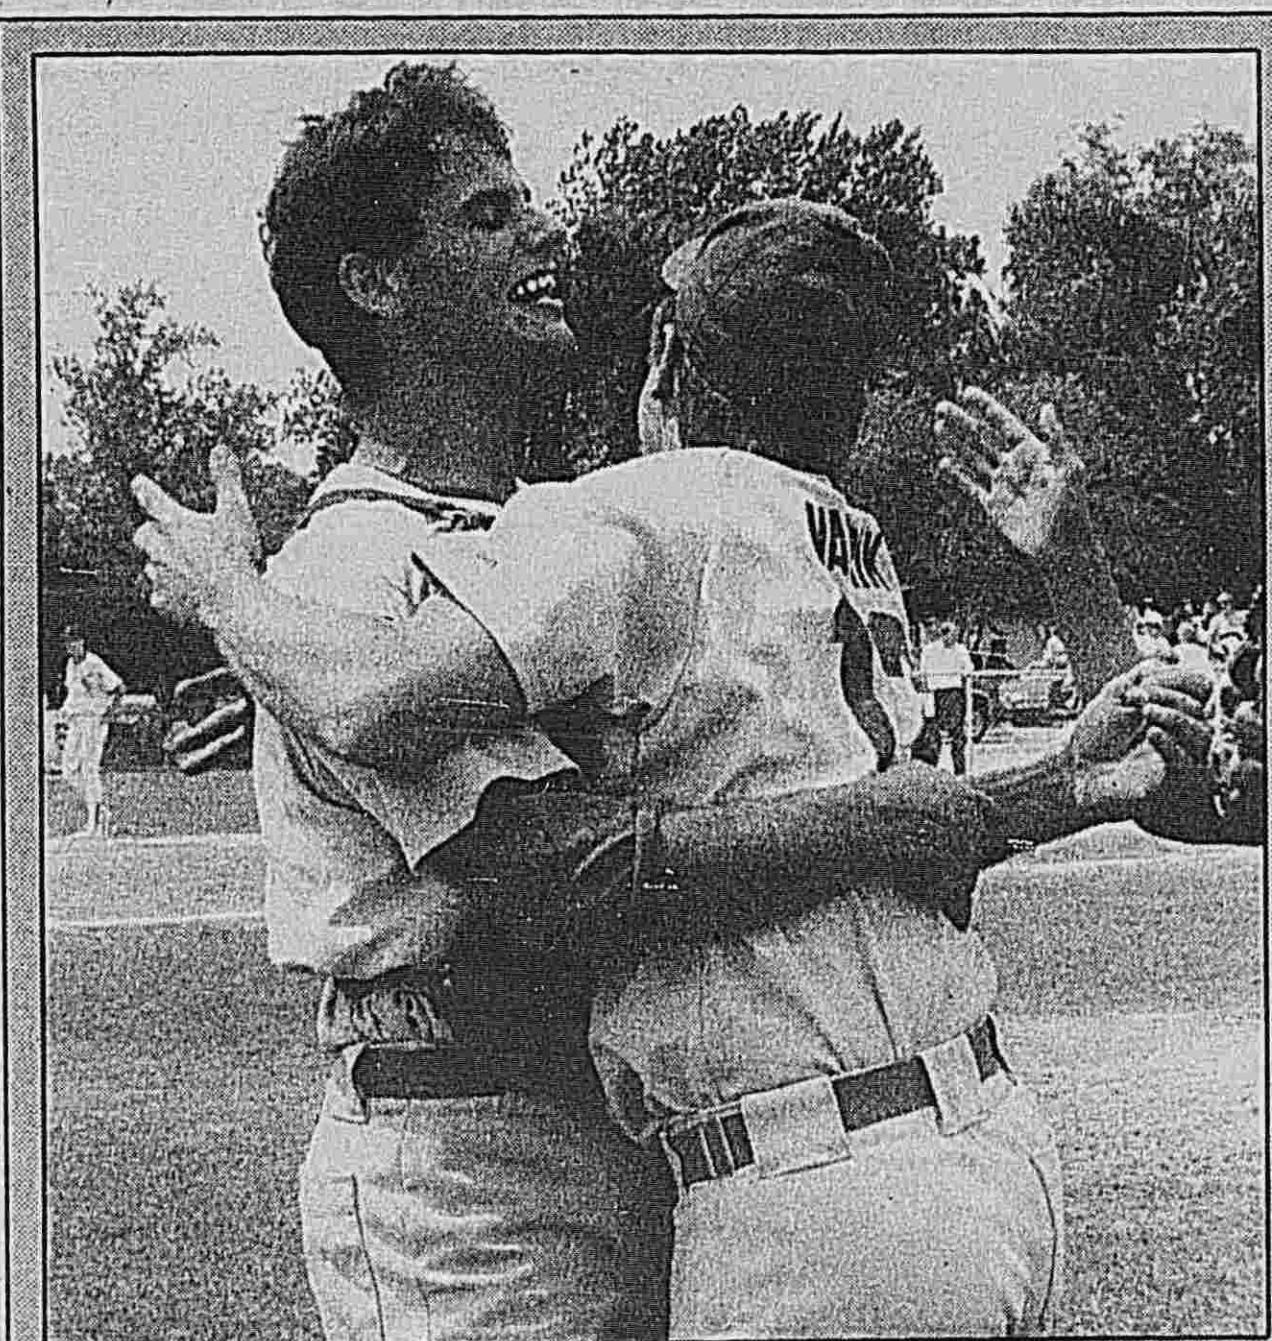

Manager Glen Jewell is in his second year at the helm of the team, which plays in the regional finals in Missouri this week. Round Lake entered the tourney with a 41-8 record after edging Ottawa 4-3 in eight innings.

"We have offensive threats from the first position to the ninth. The bottom of the lineup has scored some key runs for us," Jewell said.

Here's how Jewell assesses each of the Round Lake Traveling Colts:

Clint Rodriguez and Scott Ellenwood: "Clint is an exceptional leadoff hitter. He has great contact. They make a heckuva one-two combo and are both exceptional defensive players. When Rodriguez gets (Continued on Page 40)

Kratz's first feature win goes down to the wire

The closest race of the night was saved for last as Dennis Kratz of Antioch edged out Rob Olson by less than a length of a bumper to win his first 15-lap spectator stock feature Saturday at Wilmot Speedway.

Each of the other main event winners took home their third checkered flags of the year. Dave Hanna of Grayslake took home top honors in the sprints, Allen Winkler of Kenosha won the modifieds and Tom Zillmer of Silver Lake Wis. won the late models.

In a special six-lap exhibition race for "dwarf" antique motorcycle powered race cars, Mike Walsh of Harvard edged out his son Ryan for the win on Miller Genuine Draft Night.

Jim Surletta of Round Lake led throughout the early going of the spectator stock main which was slowed three times during the first half and a fourth time on the restart after the lap eight caution. Surletta kept in front of Olson with Kratz trying to find room on the inside. Raymond Hensley and Scott Kuxhouse were right behind.

Kratz then worked his Sinclair Racing Engine Assembly-Quality Tire Camaro in front as the white flag flew. Olson was second, Surletta third, Hensley fourth and Kuxhouse fifth.

"It was close. I had no idea who won. I have to apologize to Rob for rubbing him in the corner," Kratz said.

Sprint main took three attempts to get the first lap with the most serious incident coming when Mike Frost of Beach Park had a brake-line snap going into turn one leaving him without breaks. The result was a four-car pileup with Gib Wiser, Joe Roe, and Al Schmidt also involved.

After the incident, Hanna, went on to win with Roe, Darrell Dodd and pointleader Bob Peterson and Jim Melis completing the top five.

"It isn't easy steering this thing. The steering box was held in by just two clamps and if they had come much closer, we would have had to replace the whole box as the other clamps have broken off," Hanna said.

Tim Cox of Park City was third in the modified main. Cox kept his lead in point standings.

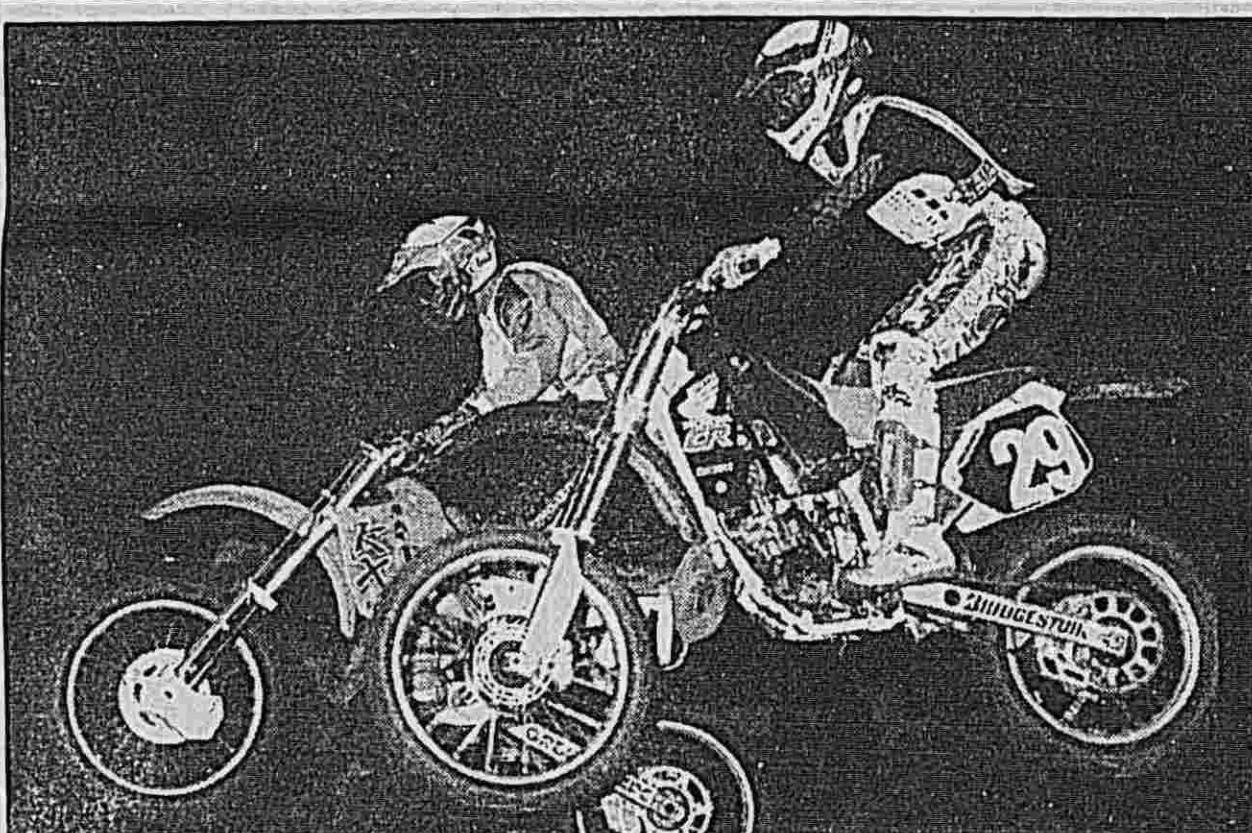

Wilmot will host Midwest Trailer Sales Night Aug. 3 which will also feature qualifying round for the 10-car, 10-lap J&L Oil Sprint Shootout, which pays $1,000 to the winner. Aug. 10 is Wilmot Speedway Race Against Drugs Night.

Mentone's: Find fine food is 'black and white' issue

by GLORIA DAVIS
Entertainment Editor

The Mentone name has been synonymous with good food in the Antioch area for over 30 years with their sandwich shop at Rte. 59 and 173 almost a landmark before it met the wrecking ball to make way for the Jewel-Osco complex 11 years ago.

Betty and Don Mentone are not new to fine dining however, having also owned the Landmark Restaurant at Rte. 59 and Grass Lake Rd. before opening Mentone's lakeside restaurant on the shore of Channel Lake nine years ago.

Diners are greeted first by a breathtaking view of the lake and the twinkling lights that decorate the outside of the restaurant.

Mentone's offers Italian and American cuisine, billing the Mediterranean fare as the "finest this side of Naples."

Although the widely varied menu makes ordering a difficult choice, a hungry diner can always rely on the succulence of Mentone's prime rib which carries the claim of being "the biggest prime rib in town," served on Saturday evenings.

Besides offering fine dining, Mentone's fun art deco decor is indicative of the good time to be had after docking one's boat and sitting at the piano bar, sipping a drink from Mentone's well-stocked bar, just soaking in good music, on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, from 5 to 10 p.m.

More good music is furnished by a deejay from 10 p.m. to closing on Saturdays.

Mentone's also has a good-size banquet room and they are already starting to book holiday parties with a seating capacity of 125.

Messerli named forest preserve director

The Lake County Forest Preserve announced last week Steven K. Messerli will take over as director beginning Aug. 26.

Messerli was a San Bernardino County department head in California. His new position will give him the helm of 18,000 acres of forest preserves in Lake County.

"I'm excited about working with the Board of Commissioners and the Forest Preserve staff to build on what already is an outstanding organization," he said.

"My family and I also are looking forward to returning to the Midwest, where we can enjoy the high quality of life available in Lake County."

For the past year, Messerli directed growth management and infrastructure development activities for San Bernardino County, a rapidly growing area near Los Angeles and home to 1.4 million residents.

He guided more than 100 employees and managed a $75,000 budget.

"We were looking for an individual with solid administrative experience and a strong natural resource background," said Andrea S. Moore, Lake County Forest Preserve president.

The Lake County Forest Preserve District serves about 500,000 residents, has 126 full-time, 72 part-time and 109 seasonal employees and a budget of $73,000.

Messerli has served as director of the San Bernardino County Regional Parks Department, a system of nearly 10,000 acres, and as manager of special facilities for the Ann Arbor, Mich., Department of Parks and Recreation.

He began his career with the Fairfax County Park Authority in Virginia. Many of the park and recreation projects he managed in all three positions received state and national awards.

His degrees include a Master's of Public Administration from California State University in San Bernardino and a Bachelor of Science in Physical Education/Health and Biology from East Tennessee State University.

Spring Grove annexation sparks debate

by KRIS NOBILIO

The possible annexation of property into Spring Grove for a condominium development has residents, Village officials and school district officials alike on their feet.

In addition to the 130 one-acre, Estate 1 zoned home sites and the four-acre park land donation shown on the tentative plat of Spring Grove Estates Phase II, developer Mark Towne is asking that one four-acre parcel be zoned PUD (Planned Unit Development) to permit the construction of three four-unit condominiums. In support of these $140,000-plus condos, Towne offered, "I want people to be comfortable with it (the development) as an asset to the town. I'm interested in keeping property values high."

Addressing the condominium issue, Trustee Carol Kramer, who assisted in the drafting of the current zoning ordinance, pointed out that, "The intent was the PUD's be used for commercial and business development. Our ordinance does not allow for multi-family." Planning Commission Chairman Chris Gallagher received applause from the audience when she stated, "If we set a precedent to break away from our Master Plan, we might as well throw it away."

Very uncomfortable with the resulting enrollment increase from this proposal to the already over-burdened Richmond-Burton High School District and Richmond Grade School District was Superintendent

Ron Erdman. Erdman emphasized that the $2,500 to $3,000 per home development donation, "doesn't cover a tenth of what the impact to the school district will be from the added number of children." Richmond Grade School District Communication Counsel member Pat Lang challenged Village Board members stating, "You can't be a responsible Board and knowingly do this to the schools."

In an attempt to calm the fears connected with the annexation of this property, local developer Kim Meier reminded residents that, "County zoning is less restrictive than Spring Grove zoning. The Board is giving the community a lot more protection than the County."

'If we set a precedent to break away from our Master Plan, we might as well throw it away.'
Planning Commission Chairman Chris Gallagher

In that proper posting requirements on the property for the Zoning Board hearing were not met by the developer, the matter was continued for a recommendation to Aug. 20th at 7 p.m. in the new Village Hall on Meyer Road.

Three Roads Car Wash is . . .

GOOD FOR YOUR CAR

Three Roads gentle, all-cloth tunnel runs a full 100 feet — longer than others — to clean your car, truck or van better. Traps beneath the surface capture grime and waste products allowing the same 30 gallons of wash water to be cleansed and recycled. (The average at-home car wash can use over 100 gallons!) Precious summertime water can be used over and over rather than washing down the drain.

FOOT NOTES

HAMMERTOE DEFORMITY

A deformed toe is one of the most common conditions affecting the foot. This condition is often called a hammertoe, mallet toe or an overlapping toe.

A hammertoe is a flexible or rigid contraction of a toe. It is caused by a weakness in the small foot muscles of the foot which stabilize the toe. This muscle imbalance causes the toe bones to assume an abnormal position. Shoes will often lead to abnormal pressure and friction on the top of the toe, resulting in a painful inflammation of the toe joint. Often, this leads to a hard corn formation. If left untreated, this condition may progress to ulcers or infections. Various forms of treatment available are trimming and padding of the corn, injections to relieve pain and inflammation, orthotics (inserts in shoes to correct improper walking), removing a section of toe bone to correct the deformity.

If you are suffering from this condition, or have any further questions, contact Dr. Lee M. Tisa for a NO COST CONSULTATION to discuss your treatment options.

Seniors share experiences, tips on avoiding scams

Most people would never recognize today's con artists. They are clean cut, nicely dressed and often well educated. And this is why they are more dangerous than ever.

Seniors at Hawthorn Lakes met with Kim Schroll of Attorney General Roland Burris' office to discuss consumer protection and how to guard oneself from scams.

"Do not speak to anyone when you are going to or from the bank," said Schroll. "Crimes like the bank examiner's scam and the pigeon drop happen all too often."

Residents listened, but also shared their experiences with con artists. Some claimed that even an announcement in the obituaries can result in receiving unwanted calling cards.

Madeline Norman told her story of how she was contacted regarding unpaid merchandise after her husband died. She was continually sent bills for $39.95 for a book her husband had never ordered.

"I just ignored the bills," said Norman. "Eventually they stopped coming."

But not everyone could say they had been as smart as Norman. One woman admitted to having been pickpocketed. Luckily, the thief had mistaken her cosmetic bag for her wallet.

By the time the hour was over, seniors knew little things they could do to protect themselves. They had learned to throw away sweepstakes entries, give checks instead of cash as charitable donations and always tear up carbons from purchases. The only question that remained unanswered was whether or not to mention a funeral in the local newspaper.

As residents began to pick up their things and leave, Schroll gave perhaps the best advice of the day. "And remember, if something sounds too good to be true, it probably is."
